
Team Flex – We're planning a city!

You are part of Team Flex.
You are the best architects, landscape planners, and civil engineers in your city.

After your city was destroyed by a large fire in the Blue Mountains, you are now responsible for planning a new city. You will draw your plan on one or more whiteboards.
You have 20 minutes.

The culture of Team Flex has these characteristics:

- You speak very loudly, very eagerly, and very often. You are full of ideas and most of them are crazy ideas.
- Your city should be a peak, a work of art that amazes everyone in the region. You use bright colors and round or oval shapes. You draw only with soft, broad lines. Often, your shapes are made from many colorful dots.
- You are creative and love to collect ideas in a spontaneous way.
- Everyone's ideas are important to you. They are always written down and valued, and you take your time for this part of the planning.
- Snakes and feet are very important to you. In your culture, they are symbols of life, which means change and adapting to new situations. That is why you often use them as decoration, or even as shapes for buildings, public squares, or parks.
- Some time ago, the daughter of a well-known citizen was killed in a sports accident by an arrow. Since then, you are very afraid of arrows and avoid them in your decorations.
- You are very sociable and celebrate often with the people of your city. For this reason, you need large squares for these festivals.
- When you have a great idea, you shout "Checka!" and pat yourself on the shoulder.
- When you don't like an idea from another team member, you shout loudly: "No, no, no!"
- When you like an idea, you shout loudly: "Yes, yes, yes!" and clap your hands with joy.

Please keep these cultural characteristics in mind when you plan your city!
